- 2. Apply to the US Small Business Administration (SBA) before their Sept. 13, 2021 deadline. Next to insurance, an SBA low-interest disaster loan is the primary source of funds for property repairs and for replacing contents destroyed during the June floods. To apply for a low-interest disaster loan from the SBA, complete an online application at disasterloan.sba.gov/ela/.
- 3. Visit the Disaster Recovery Center (DRC) at the Henry Ford Centennial Library. It is open 7 days a week 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Among the many resources offered there are FEMA Mitigation specialists. Mitigation specialists can answer questions and offer floodproofing information, home improvement tips and proven methods to prevent and lessen damage from future floods.
- 4. Visit a nearby hardware store to talk with a FEMA mitigation specialist. FEMA also has teamed up with True Value and Menards Hardware stores to provide free information, tips and literature on making homes and businesses stronger and safer. Most of the free publications offered are geared to do-it-yourself work and general contractors.
- 5. Request continued rental assistance forms: If you remain unable to return to your pre-disaster primary residence due to the June flooding disaster, make sure to apply for FEMA's Continued Rental Assistance. If you did not receive a form by mail, you may request one by calling the FEMA helpline at 800-621-3362 (TTY: 800-462-7585).
- 6. Verify your home's heating and septic systems are functioning: When you register, report any damage to your furnace, septic tank or water heater as a result of the disaster. If your home has already been inspected and the damage wasn't identified, you may send FEMA a dated and signed letter within 60 days of your initial FEMA decision, along with a contractor's estimate, indicating you are appealing for assistance with these items. Keep in mind: if you need to replace your furnace or septic system, you have the option to appeal for additional grant funding through FEMA.
- 7. Examine your vehicle for water damage. If your vehicle was damaged or destroyed in the flood, FEMA may provide financial assistance. Assistance is usually limited to one uninsured vehicle per household. For questions about eligibility requirements, call FEMA's helpline at 800-621-3362 (TTY: 800-462-7585).
- 8. Know your appeal options. If you disagree with other FEMA decisions, you have the option to submit an appeal letter with additional documentation to have your case reconsidered. The appeal should be submitted within 60 days of the initial FEMA decision and include a letter explaining what you are appealing, be signed and dated, and include supporting documentation, such as a copy of a verifiable contractor's estimate.
